

Profile: Dr. Amiya Kumar TRIPATHY

- Dr. Amiya Kumar Tripathy is a Professor in Computer Engineering Department and is the former Dean (Research & Development) of Don Bosco Institute of Technology, Mumbai.
- Dr. Tripathy is an Adjunct Professor to School of Science, Edith Cowan University, Perth, Australia. He is also a Visiting Researcher to RM University of Technology, Bangkok, Thailand.
- He is an IEEE & ACM professional senior member and presently the treasurer to IEEE-Geoscience & Remote Sensing Society, Mumbai Chapter.
- He is the VC nominated BOS to Autonomous Colleges for Computer Science, University of Mumbai. He is the BOS and RPC member to Computer Engineering, Amity University Mumbai Campus.
- Dr. Tripathy has been the Secretary to Rashtriya Uchchar Shiksha Abhiyan (RUSA), Government of Maharashtra for Higher studies in Geo-Spatial Technology
- Dr. Tripathy earned Ph.D. from IIT Bombay in the area of Data Mining and Sensing Systems in March 2013. He has 22 years in Software Industry, Research and Academics having 125 plus Publications to repute and having two Patents.
- He is the editor-in-chief to DBIT Journal of Science & Engineering. He is an Editorial board member of IEEE Transactions on Computational Social Systems and Elsevier's Journal of Information Science.
- He has been the General Chair & Program Chair to many IEEE/ACM International conferences. He has given Invited plenary talks in many countries and has been carried out many collaborative projects from Japan, Australia and Thailand.
- His research interest includes Machine Learning, Data Science, Sensor Networks, ICT for Agriculture & Rural Development. He has guided 3 PhD scholars from Australia and 2 from India.
- He is the recipient of Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam National Award for Teaching and Research from IISER Bangaluru in February 2020. Also a recipient of DBCL Golden Jubilee award for research in February 2015 from Don Bosco Institute of Technology, Mumbai.